IMPORTANT: Out of EU the samples must be shipped "door to door" preferably with a freight forwarder or courier and labeled "Delivery Duty Paid⁽³⁾". The organizers decline any responsibility for the possible delivery of the samples after the established date. Contest organizers are NOT to be held responsible for the total or partial loss of samples during transport or any chemical/physical or organoleptic alterations of the samples due to thermal excursions, breakages or other anomalies occurred during transportation.

Shipping costs, including possible customs and health charges, up to the destination, are fully borne by the participating companies.

⁽³⁾Incoterms: D.D.P. Delivery Duty Paid. In the term "Duty Free Return" the seller fulfills the obligation of delivery by making the goods available to the buyer in the agreed place in the importing country. The seller must bear the risks and costs, including duties, taxes and other charges, in order to be able to deliver the goods to that place, cleared for importation.

10. Sample evaluation

After verifying all documentation pertaining to each sample (certification, labels, laboratory tests) as well as the entry documents and the conformity to current legislation, the sample will be placed in its specific category (see 4. EVO IOOC Italy participating products).

For the evaluation of the samples, an APP specially created for EVO IOOC Italy - EVO International Olive Oil Contest® will be used during the tasting sessions, which shows the official tasting sheet and a points system between 0 and 100.

11. The Jury

The President and a technical committee will select the jury and commission members. The number of judges tasting the samples will depend on the number of samples entered in the contest. Each Tasting panel is formed by 4 members: three judges and an chairman.

The President (Panel Leader) and the General Manager of EVO IOOC Italy will preside the contest.

The jury will be composed of personalities who enjoy a great reputation in the world of EVOO and are universally recognized as opinion leaders in their own countries. Their high knowledge of the olive oil sector and their know-how will contribute to the success of the competition, increasing its reputation all over the world.

To ensure the maximum level of transparency, the EVO IOOC Italy - EVO International Olive Oil Contest® Competition judges will not evaluate olive oils or flavoured oils from any company in which they or any of their relatives are involved, be it as producers, bottlers or distributors, etc..
