The Awards Ceremony

An exceptional sunset, within the background of the natural setting offered by the Strait of Messina and its Islands, reflected in the violet of this sea, welcomed the final act of the 2023 EVO IOOC Italy international contest.

At the tip of the boot of Italy, in a fairy-tale atmosphere, surrounded by the enchanting colors and scents of Calabria, suspended between sky and sea, between myths and legends of timeless charm steeped in magic and beauty, where stories of mythological creatures echoed and gave rise to fascinating legends, creating a veil of mystery over these places.

This same tract of sea, intimately embraced between Calabria and Sicily, saw the arrival many centuries before Christ of the first olive saplings from Ellas, following the first adventurous Greek colonists.

Among these immortal olive trees, now the heritage and symbol of these communities started the award ceremony of the eighth edition of EVO IOOC Italy.

After a greeting brought by the Mayor and Municipal Administration, General Director of Agriculture Giacomo Giovinazzo and Gianluca Gallo Agriculture Regional Minister of Calabria welcomed, on behalf of the entire regional agricultural community, the producers from all over the world representing the nearly 700 samples, the winners of the Best in Class category, the Best of Country trophies and the Special Awards of the contest were announced.

A celebration, where great emphasis was given to the winners of

La Cerimonia di Premiazione

Un tramonto d'eccezione, con sullo sfondo la scenografia naturale offerta dallo stretto di Messina e le sue Isole che si specchiano nel viola di questo mare, ha salutato l'atto finale del contest internazionale EVO IOOC Italy 2023.

Qui, alla punta dello stivale d'Italia, in una atmosfera da favola, immersi negli incantevoli colori e profumi dello Calabria, sospesi tra cielo e mare, tra miti e leggende dal fascino intramontabile intriso di magia e bellezza, dove echeggiano storie di creature mitologiche che hanno dato vita ad affascinanti leggende, creando un velo di mistero su questi luoghi.

Questo stesso tratto di mare, stretto intimamente tra Calabria e Sicilia, che ha visto arrivare molti secoli prima di Cristo i primi virgulti di olivo provenienti dall'Ellade, al seguito dei primi avventurosi coloni greci.

Ed è tra questi ulivi immortali, oggi divenuti patrimonio e simbolo di queste comunità, che ha preso il via la cerimonia di premiazione della ottava edizione di EVO IOOC Italy.

Dopo un indirizzo di saluto portato dal Sindaco e dall'Amministrazione Comunale e dagli organi politici, il Dirigente Generale Agricoltura Dr Giacomo Giovinazzo e l'On. Gianluca Gallo Assessore Regionale all'Agricoltura della Regione Calabria hanno accolto, a nome di tutta la comunità agricola regionale, i numerosi produttori provenienti da tutto il mondo in rappresentanza dei quasi 700 campioni giunti in riva allo stretto, sono stati proclamati i vincitori della categoria Best in Class, i trofei Best of Country e gli Special Awards del contest.

each medal, Gold or Silver, awarded during the Calabrian Awards Ceremony.

“All the 24 International Judges were pleasantly surprised by the high quality of the products in the competition and by the biting beauty of this unusual Calabria, which hosted and cuddled them. Each of them,” - says President Lauro - “brings home a little piece of Calabria, made of smells, faces, places, and flavors. Growing above all is the quality shown in the competition, with the 694 competing products (623 EVOOs and 71 Flavoured EVOOs), submitted by 30 nations and from as many as 26 different producing countries.”

There was a unanimous comment from the judges from 11 countries, who acknowledged EVO IOOC Italy's role as a tool to promote valuable productions, apt to move quality higher and higher, contributing strongly to give the decisive push to producers towards excellence, making them more and more willing to put themselves on the line and improve.

Sealing an intense awards ceremony, which saw alternating moments of great emotion but also enormous jubilation among the participants, was the final masterclasses. Here producers and enthusiasts, with the guidance of some of the contest judges, were able to “touch with their hands” and taste together some of the world excellence just unveiled by the contest.

To conclude, Stefania Reggio, General Director of the Contest, reminds that “those who won an award at the contest will be issued, free of charge again this year, the Seal of Quality to be affixed on their winning bottle, an undeniable resource to Una festa, dove grande risalto è stato dato anche ai vincitori di ogni singola medaglia, Gold o Silver, anch'esse premiate nel corso della “Awards Ceremony” calabrese.

“Tutti i 24 Giudici internazionali sono stati piacevolmente sorpresi dall'alta qualità dei prodotti in gara e dalle graffianti bellezze di questa Calabria inusuale, che li ha ospitati e coccolati. Ognuno di loro”, - racconta il presidente Lauro - “riporta con se un pezzetto di Calabria, fatto di odori, di volti, di luoghi e di sapori. A crescere è soprattutto la qualità presentata in concorso, con i 694 prodotti in gara (623 Oli EVO e 71 Condimenti), presentati da 30 nazioni e provenienti da ben 26 paesi produttori differenti”.

Unanime il commento dei giudici provenienti da 11 paesi, che hanno riconosciuto ad EVO IOOC Italy il ruolo di strumento di promozione delle preziose produzioni, atto a spostare sempre più in alto l'asticella della qualità, contribuendo fortemente a dare la spinta decisiva ai produttori verso l'eccellenza, rendendoli sempre più disposti a mettersi in gioco e perfezionarsi.

A suggellare una intensa cerimonia di premiazione, che ha visto alternarsi momenti di grande emozione, ma anche di enorme giubilo tra i partecipanti, le masterclass finali. Qui produttori ed appassionati, con la guida di alcuni giudici del concorso, hanno potuto “toccare con mano” ed assaggiare insieme alcune delle eccellenze mondiali appena svelate dal contest.

Per concludere Stefania Reggio, Direttore Generale del Concorso, ricorda che “a quanti hanno ottenuto un riconoscimento al concorso verrà rilasciato, gratuitamente anche quest'anno, il Bollino di Qualità da apporre sulla propria bottiglia vincitrice, una risorsa innegabile per suscitare l'interesse dei consumatori, dei arouse the interest of consumers, restaurateurs, and distribution channels”, and closes by reminding that “from the end of July, the new downloadable edition of the EVO IOOC Italy Buyers Guide Edition 2023/2024 will be available, free of charge. Inside which you will find all the great EVOOs and Flavoured winners in the competition, each of which will be narrated with an evaluation sheet and sensory profile. A guide that will also contain company data useful for buyers and for the consumer or enthusiast interested in buying one of these 2023 excellences”.

ristoratori e dei canali di distribuzione” e chiude rammentando che “da fine luglio sarà disponibile, sempre gratuitamente, la nuova edizione scaricabile della Guida EVO IOOC Italy Buyers Edition 2023/2024. All’interno della quale troverete tutti i grandi Oli EVO ed i Condimenti vincitori al concorso, ognuno dei quali sarà raccontato con una scheda di valutazione ed il profilo sensoriale. Una guida che conterrà anche i dati aziendali utili per i buyers ma anche per il semplice consumatore o appassionato interessato all’acquisto di una di queste eccellenze 2023”.

The numbers of the Guide

A few more facts about the contest are offered to us in the final analysis.

Scrolling through the statistics of the results, some curiosities about the participation of the different world production realities.

As mentioned there were 694 products in the competition (623 EVOOs and 71 Flavoured EVOOs), from 30 nations and from as many as 26 different producing countries.

A careful reading of the data tells us that the highest number of products arrived from the Northern Hemisphere (86%) and therefore from Italy (169 samples equal to 24.4% of the total), followed by Turkey (17%), Greece (12.7%) and, surprisingly, Israel (10.1%), which tells of an exceptionally abundant production year in the Middle East.

By contrast, it is Spain (7.5%), which paid for a drop in production that caused the loss of at least half of the national product.

Brazil (9.4%), which ends the list of the most represented nations in the competition and brings the presence of products from the Southern Hemisphere to 14%.

Designation of Origin or Geographical Indication oils contributed 11.4 percent of the total, while Organic EVOOs exceeded 20 percent. Witnesses to the world's enormous biodiversity were more than 300 Monovarietal EVOOs competing (51% of the total), the original expression of the olive-growing heritage of each region.

I numeri della Guida

Qualche dato in più sul contest ce lo offre l'analisi finale.

Scorrendo le statistiche dei risultati, qualche curiosità sulla partecipazione delle differenti realtà produttive mondiali.

Come detto, i prodotti in gara erano 694 (623 Oli EVO e 71 Condimenti), provenienti da 30 nazioni e da ben 26 paesi produttori differenti.

Da una attenta lettura dei dati si desume come il più alto numero dei prodotti arrivi - come logico aspettarsi - dall'Emisfero Nord (86%) e quindi dall'Italia (169 campioni pari al 24,4% del totale), seguita dalla Turchia (17%), Grecia (12,7%) e, sorprendentemente, da Israele (10,1%), che racconta di una annata produttiva eccezionalmente abbondante in Medio Oriente.

E' invece la Spagna (7,5%), a pagare un calo produttivo che si è assestato con la perdita di almeno metà del prodotto nazionale.

A completare il quadro il Brasile (9,4%), che chiude la lista delle nazioni più rappresentate in concorso e porta al 14% la presenza dei prodotti provenienti dall'Emisfero Sud del mondo.

Tutte presenti le regioni olivicole italiane, con Calabria e Sicilia su tutte, ciascuna con il 21% dei prodotti italiani in gara; a seguire la Puglia con il 13% e via via le altre.

Gli oli a Denominazione di Origine o ad Indicazione Geografica hanno contribuito all'11,4% del totale, mentre gli Oli EVO da Agricoltura Biologica hanno superato il 20%. Testimoni dell'enorme biodiversità mondiale gli oltre 300 Oli Monovarietali in gara (51% del totale), espressione d'origine del patrimonio olivicolo dei singoli territori.

was the remarkable number of Extra Virgin Olive Oil and Flavored (61 products in total, or 9%) that scored at least 95 points out of 100.

The Gold Medals awarded were very well deserved, accounting for nearly 50 percent of the total (346 medals), while the contest's Silver Medals stood at 24 percent (168 medals).

This year's nominations for the 23 Best of Show (3 Best International, 6 Best in Class, 11 Best of Country, and 3 Special Awards) went to 38 finalist companies with 43 different products in the competition; among them, companies from the old and new worlds that have made excellence their mission and have distinguished themselves through high product quality. Among all the nominations, Italy and Brazil were awarded as many as 3 Best of Show trophies each, followed by Spain with 2 trophies, and the United States closed with one Best of Show to its credit.

A raccontare l'altissima qualità premiata dai giudici del contest è il ragguardevole numero di Oli EVO e Aromatizzati (61 prodotti in totale, pari al 9%) che hanno conseguito un punteggio di almeno 95 punti su 100.

Meritatissime le Gold Medals assegnate, che incidono per quasi il 50% del totale (346 medaglie), mentre si attestano al 24% (168 medaglie) le Silver Medals del concorso.

Quest'anno le nominations ai 23 Best of Show (3 Best International, 6 Best in Class, 11 Best of Country e 3 Special Awards) sono andate a 38 aziende finaliste con 43 prodotti differenti in gara; tra queste, società appartenenti a nazioni del vecchio e del nuovo mondo che hanno fatto dell'eccellenza la propria missione e che si sono contraddistinte per l'alta qualità del prodotto. Tra tutte le nominations, sono stati assegnati all'Italia ed al Brasile ben 3 trofei Best of Show ciascuno, a seguire la Spagna con 2 trofei, a chiudere gli Stati Uniti con un Best of Show all'attivo.

10 pleasant sensations of high-quality EVOO

After more than twenty years dedicated to sensory analysis of virgin olive oils and spent tasting the excellence of olive oil from both “our” northern hemisphere, as from the “new” southern hemisphere, I try to answer a question asked by a young “colleague” little more than eleven years old.

The question is intriguing: “Antonio, tell me in a few words what are the 10 most beautiful sensations that can be found in a quality EVOO”.

I try to answer the learned colleague. Here are the 10 pleasant sensations you can (and should) find in extra virgin olive oil.

The tasting of olive oil, in its extra virgin category, can trigger pleasant sensations even to a neophyte. In fact, within the EVOO, you can find an infinite range of aromas and flavors, that we would never imagine and whose origin I try to explain.

The aromas and scents of EVOO depend on various factors, above all the variety of the olive, which inexorably characterizes the organoleptic profile of the olive oil being tasted.

Among other factors, we can mention the geographical region, climate, and soil where the plants are grown, agronomic factors (cultivation operations, fertilization, irrigation), the stage of ripeness of the olives, and the type of extraction and the olive mill used.

Perhaps not everyone knows that it is the mill itself, with healthy and fresh olives, that makes the difference, positively and

10 gradevoli sensazioni dell’olio EVO di qualità

Dopo oltre vent’anni dedicati all’analisi sensoriale degli oli vergini di oliva e passati ad assaggiare le eccellenze olearie provenienti tanto dal “nostro” emisfero nord, quanto dal “nuovo” emisfero sud, provo a rispondere ad una domanda fattami da un giovane “collega” poco più che undicenne.

La domanda è intrigante: “Antonio, dimmi in poche parole quali sono le 10 più belle sensazioni che si possono trovare dentro un olio EVO di qualità”.

Provo a rispondere al dotto collega. Ecco le 10 gradevoli sensazioni che puoi (e che devi) trovare nell’olio extravergine di oliva.

L’assaggio di un olio di oliva, nella sua categoria extravergine, può scatenare piacevoli sensazioni anche ad un neofita. In effetti, all’interno degli oli EVO, si può trovare una gamma infinità di profumi e sapori, che mai immagineremmo e della cui origine provo a spiegare.

Gli aromi ed i profumi degli oli EVO dipendono da vari fattori, su tutti la varietà dell’oliva, che caratterizza inesorabilmente il profilo organolettico dell’olio in assaggio. Tra gli altri fattori possiamo menzionare la regione geografica, il clima ed il suolo dove vengono coltivate le piante, i fattori agronomici (operazioni colturali, fertilizzazione, irrigazione), lo stadio di maturazione delle olive e la tipologia di estrazione ed il frantoio usato. Forse non tutti sanno che è proprio il frantoio, a parità di olive sane e unfortunately also negatively, on the final quality.

Let's try to understand what happens in the olive mill during the pressing and the extraction of oil from olives.

As mentioned, this is the right moment to "create" the aromas and flavors of an excellent EVOO.

Already during the crushing of the olives, and then during the phase of "malaxation" (slow stirring of the olive paste), a whole series of positive chemical reactions happen that lead to the "birth" of the aromas and flavors of the extra virgin olive oil. This is an "aromagenesis", possible thanks to a particular "benevolent" enzyme, which gives rise to the so-called "lipoxigenase cascade", thanks to which some polyunsaturated fatty acids are converted into smaller aromatic molecules.

Therefore, to find in the EVOO aromas reminiscent of a particular fruit or vegetables, does not indicate that the olive trees have grown in the vicinity of a vegetable garden or orchard, or that these vegetable essences have been introduced into the olive oil from outside.

But even flavors have a daddy. In fact, these are largely due to the presence in the olive oil of some antioxidant substances, such as polyphenols, belonging to a large family of natural compounds with important biological properties.

Even this class of compounds has a well-defined origin and their presence depends - as for aromatic compounds - on the geographical region, climate, soil, agronomic factors, olives, and the olive mill.

But what is a Polyphenol? We can safely call it the "Superman" of EVOO, it is very present in high-quality extra virgin olive oils just fresche, a fare la differenza, positivamente e, purtroppo anche negativamente, sulla qualità finale. Cerchiamo di capire cosa accade in frantoio durante la frangitura e l'estrazione dell'olio dalle olive.

Come detto è questo il momento giusto per "creare" gli aromi ed i sapori di un ottimo olio EVO. Già durante la frantumazione delle olive, e poi durante la fase di gramolazione (lento rimescolamento della pasta di olive), accadono tutta una serie di reazioni chimiche – positive – che portano a far "nascere" i profumi ed i sapori dell'olio. Si tratta di una "aromagenesi", possibile grazie ad un particolare enzima "benevolo", che da origine alla cosiddetta "cascate della lipossigenasi", grazie alla quale alcuni acidi grassi polinsaturi vengono convertiti in molecole aromatiche più piccole. Quindi, trovare nell'olio EVO profumi che ricordano un particolare frutto o delle verdure, non sta ad indicare che gli olivi siano cresciuti in vicinanza di un orto o di un frutteto, o che queste essenze vegetali siano state introdotte nell'olio dall'esterno.

Ma anche i sapori hanno un papà. In effetti questi sono dovuti in larga parte alla presenza nell'olio di alcune sostanze antiossidanti, quali i polifenoli, appartenenti ad un'ampia famiglia di composti naturali dotati di importanti proprietà biologiche.

Anche questa classe di composti ha un'origine ben definita e la loro presenza dipende – come per i composti aromatici – dalla regione geografica, dal clima, dal suolo, da fattori agronomici, dalle olive e dal frantoio usato. Ma cos'è un Polifenolo? Possiamo tranquillamente chiamarlo il "Superman" dell'olio EVO, molto presente negli oli extravergine di oliva di alta qualità appena prodotto ed è responsabile del sapore dell'olio EVO.

produced and it is responsible for the flavor of EVOO.

At this point, in order to satisfy the curiosity of our young friend, here is the list of the 10 pleasant sensations of quality EVOO.

A premise: some of these smells and tastes are surely familiar to you, others will positively surprise you.

1. Fruity (green or ripe olive). Yes, the scent of olive. On the other hand, we know that EVOO is an “olive juice”, so why should we be surprised to smell it in an extra virgin olive oil? Delicate or robust, it surprises and fascinates. But rest assured: all the EVOOs in the world are fruity!
2. Bitterness. Present in high-quality EVOO, it can easily be detected at the end of the tongue. A good Italian Moraiolo or Coratina envelops the palate with this sensation - reminiscent of chicory and artichoke - as well as olive oil of Cornicabra or Manzanilla sevillana (Spain) or Carolea (Italy). So look for it in an EVOO, this is also an indication of quality.
3. Pungency. Tasting olive oil can sometimes be disorienting. Pungent? Why? The pungent (or spicy) sensation of EVOO is a sort of burning perception, due to the tactile stimulation of heat receptors present in the mucous membranes of the mouth. Therefore, realizing that our EVOO - in the mouth - tastes like a chili pepper or black pepper, typical perceptions of varieties such as Ottobratica, and Leccio del Corno (Italy), Picudo (Spain), and Memecik (Turkey), guarantees us that this olive oil is rich in important substances having a “nutraceutical” effect.
Besides these, which are also the three “basic” sensations

A questo punto, per soddisfare la curiosità del giovane amico ecco l'elenco dei 10 sentori gradevoli dell'olio EVO di qualità.

Una premessa: alcuni di questi odori e sapori vi sono sicuramente familiari, altri vi sorprenderanno positivamente.

1. Fruttato (oliva verde o oliva matura). Sì, proprio il sentore di oliva. D'altro canto lo sappiamo che l'olio EVO è una “spremuta di olive”; quindi perché meravigliarsi di sentire questo odore in un olio? Delicato o intenso, sorprende ed affascina. Ma state tranquilli: tutti gli oli EVO del mondo sono fruttati!
2. Amaro. Presente negli oli EVO di alta qualità è facilmente individuabile sulla parte terminale della lingua. Un buon Moraiolo umbro o la Coratina di Puglia avvolgono il palato con questa sensazione – che ricorda la cicoria ed il carciofo - parimenti ad un olio di Cornicabra o di Manzanilla sevillana (Spagna) o una Carolea calabrese. Quindi cercatelo in un olio EVO, anche questo è indice di qualità.
3. Piccante. L'assaggio di un olio a volte può disorientare. Piccante? Perché? La sensazione piccante (o pungente) dell'olio EVO è una sorta di percezione di bruciore, dovuto alla stimolazione tattile dei recettori del calore presenti sulle mucose della bocca. Quindi accorgersi che il nostro olio EVO – in bocca - sa di peperoncino o di pepe nero, percezioni tipiche di varietà come l'Ottobratica (Calabria), il Leccio del Corno (Toscana), la Picudo (Spagna) e la Memecik (Turchia), ci garantisce che quest'olio sia ricco di importanti sostanze ad effetto “nutraceutico”.
Oltre a queste, che sono anche le tre sensazioni “basiche” common to all extra virgin olive oils and that both an expert taster and a consumer must necessarily find in a quality oil, there are others.

4. Tomato (green, ripe, leaf). The extras virgin olive oil is there, the scent of tomato is strong and clear, just a few aromatic herbs are missing and the salad is made! Yes, that's right, a simple slice of bread with an excellent extra virgin olive oil from Spain (Picual), Syria (Nabali baladi), Italy (Grossa di Cassano or Nocellara del Belice or Tonda iblea), will make our snack a very satisfying experience.
5. Almond (fresh or in shell, sweet or bitter). Gentlemen, here is the almond, in all its facets and declinations. It is the main sensation (after the fruitiness, clearly) of many Italian olive oils such as Casaliva, Coratina, and Frantoio or Picholine morocchain.
6. Grass (fresh or just cut). How many people have clear memories of walks in the countryside, among the fields, surrounded by a heady scent of fresh grass? I think everyone. This is an experience common to so many of us. But finding these pleasant notes in a "premium" EVOO is also common. Just choose an extra virgin olive oil from the Itrana or Sperone di Gallo (Italy), Halkidiki (Greece), Hojiblanca (Spain), or Chetoui (Tunisia) varieties, and the experience is assured.
7. Olive leaf. To remember it and link it to a direct experience, I invite you to rub an olive leaf in your hands. The olfactory impact is immediately vegetal, one that is not easily forgotten.

comuni a tutti gli extravergine e che tanto un assaggiatore esperto quanto un consumatore deve necessariamente trovare in un olio di qualità, ve ne sono altre.

4. Pomodoro (verde, maturo, foglia). L'olio c'è, il sentore di pomodoro è forte è chiaro, manca giusto qualche erba aromatica è l'insalata è fatta! Sì, proprio così, una semplice fetta di pane con un ottimo extravergine spagnolo (Picual), siriano (Nabali baladi) calabrese (Grossa di Cassano) o siciliano (Nocellara del Belice, Tonda iblea), faranno della nostra merenda un'esperienza molto appagante.
5. Mandorla (fresca o in guscio, dolce o amara). Signori ecco la mandorla, in tutte le sue sfaccettature e declinazioni. E' la sensazione principale (dopo il fruttato, chiaramente) di molti oli italiani come ad esempio quelli di Casaliva, Coratina e Frantoio o la Picholine marocchain.
6. Erba (fresca o appena falciata). Quanti conservano chiaro il ricordo di passeggiate in campagna, tra i campi, avvolti da un inebriante sentore di erbe fresche? Credo tutti. Questa è un'esperienza comune a tanti di noi. Ma trovare queste note gradevoli in un olio EVO "premium" è altresì comune. Basta scegliere un olio di varietà Itrana (Lazio), Sperone di Gallo (Molise), Halkidiki (Grecia), Hojiblanca (Spagna) o Chetoui (Tunisia) e l'esperienza è assicurata.
7. Foglia di olivo. Per ricordarla e legarla ad una esperienza diretta vi invito a sfregare, tra le mani, una foglia di olivo. L'impatto olfattivo è subito vegetale, di quelli che non si dimentica facilmente.
8. Floreale. Esatto, fiori! Sono tante le varietà di olivo mondiali

8. Floral. That's right, flowers! There are many varieties of olive trees in the world that can boast such olfactory notes. Just look for them in an Italian Taggiasca, a Lebanese Sourì, a Greek Manaki, or an Istrian Buza. These perceptions give complexity to the bouquet of an EVOO.
9. Spices and aromatic herbs. Basil, thyme, chamomile, oregano, rosemary, cinnamon, sage, mint, or other unsuspected herbs. The list is long, which is precisely why I prefer to talk generically about "spicy/aromatic notes". A Spanish Arbequina, just like an Ortice or Bosana from Italy or a Barnea from Israel, surprises the palate for the generous scents they give off.
10. Fruit. Apple, banana, or exotic fruit (mango, guava, and avocado) in an extra virgin olive oil? Yes, they are frequent in EVOOs coming from the southern hemisphere or from other regions of the world and complete the bouquet of many olive oils such as the Greek variety Koroneiki, the Italian Biancolilla or Mignola, Manzanilla and Arbosana (Spain), the Turkish Ayvalik or the Argentinian Arauco.

This is just a short and concise list that includes the 10 most common sensations of an EVOO but at the same time an experiential path, made of smell and taste, that will make you fall even more in love with the green gold - the extra virgin olive oil - prince of the table and heritage of humanity.

At the same time, I would like to challenge you: what sensations can you recognize in your extra virgin olive oil?

- che si possono fregiare di tali note olfattive. Basta cercarle in una Taggiasca ligure, una Sourì libanese, una Manaki greca od in una Buza istriana. Queste percezioni, sono quelle che conferiscono complessità al bouquet di un olio EVO.
9. Spezie ed erbe aromatiche. Basilico, timo, camomilla, origano, rosmarino, cannella, salvia, menta o altre erbe insospettabili. La lista è lunga, e proprio per questo preferisco parlare genericamente di "note speziate/aromatiche". Un'Arbequina spagnola, come un'Ortice dalla Campania, una Bosana sarda o la Barnea d'Israele, sorprendono all'assaggio per i generosi sentori che sprigionano.
 10. Frutta. La mela, la banana o la frutta esotica (mango, guava ed avocado) in un olio EVO? Sì, sono frequenti in oli provenienti dall'emisfero sud o da altre regioni del mondo e completano il bouquet di molti oli come la varietà greca Koroneiki, la Biancolilla siciliana, la Mignola (Marche), la Manzanilla e l'Arbosana (Spagna), l'Ayvalik turca o l'Arauco argentino.

Questo è solo un breve e sintetico elenco che racchiude le 10 sensazioni più comuni di un olio EVO, ma allo stesso tempo un percorso esperienziale, fatto di olfatto e gusto, che vi faranno innamorare ancor di più dell'oro verde – l'olio extravergine di oliva – principe della tavola e patrimonio dell'umanità. Nel contempo vi lancio una sfida: voi, quali sensazioni riuscite a riconoscere nel vostro olio extravergine di oliva?
